There are schemes and initiatives for people from all walks of life that creates an ecosystem for inclusive development of the people and, hence, the State. However, without proper awareness it is difficult for anyone to know what are the schemes and benefits available for them. To mitigate the gaps in communication and to engage with the citizens the Government of Meghalaya has formulated the Citizen Engagement and Communication Program, which has two components.

CHAPTER II

(Component 1: Communication to Citizens)

There have been multiple schemes, initiatives from the State and Central Governments for welfare and development of the citizens of Meghalaya through direct and indirect benefits. Although most of the policies and schemes are tailormade for the benefit of the citizens, without proper communication and scheme awareness it is difficult for anyone to benefit from the government initiatives.

Taking cognizance of this, Government of Meghalaya has included this component in the program to sensitize people of Meghalaya on all the initiatives taken up by the State. A District Level Committee shall be constituted with the following members.

Involving the community in the implementation and assessment of the programs and initiatives of the Government has always been beneficial. The community has the requisite information and knowledge on their needs and thus their inclusivity becomes a major criteria for the success of any project.

To make citizens aware of the programs and initiatives and to collect information on scheme delivery and feedback from the grassroot level, Opinion Holders are the key personnel. They are the Village Headmen, Secretaries of VECs, Presidents of SHGs who have necessary information that would be insightful for the Government to plan and take appropriate actions accordingly. Government of Meghalaya plans to reach out these Key Opinion Holders at every village to sensitize citizens regarding the schemes and initiatives and to collect feedback on the quality and efficiency of the same.

The Citizen Engagement component of the program has been conceptualized to ensure inclusivity of the community in the formulation and implementation of schemes and programs by creating a feedback system from the grass-root level. The initiative aims to organize participatory programs to engage with Key Opinion Holders/ Stakeholders of the villages moderated by Government Officials at Block Offices. This will be useful in formulating new Schemes/Programs and redesign implementation methodologies to maximize the benefit delivery with minimal resistance.
